DILLARD INSURANCE
CASE IN SUPREME COURT

Policy for $10,000 on Life of Suicide
Lapsed the Night He Took His Life.

COMPANY RESISTS PAYMENT

Claims Policy Was Void Because of Erroneous Statements Made by Dil-lard as to His Health.

The State Supreme Court of Appeals yesterday took a hand in the litigation over the insurance policy of Richard Dillard, of Lynchburg, who committed suicide in a hotel in Greensboro, N. C., either on the night of November 20 or early on the morning of November 21, 1912. The judge of the Circuit Court declared that if he died on the night of November 20 his $10,000 policy with the Security Life Insurance Company of America was in force, but if death did not occur until November 21, the policy was void. The jury deliberated on the evidence that he took his own life before midnight on November 20.

The Supreme Court granted a writ of error and supersedeas to the Security Life Insurance Company yesterday, fixing the bond at $12,500. It will review the evidence in the case and decide whether a new trial is necessary or whether the original verdict should stand. Mrs. Gertrude Dillard, wife of Richard Dillard, is represented by Aubrey C. Strickland, who is the insurance company's counsel in Caskle & Caskey and the firm of Coleman, Eastley & Coleman.

POLICY HAD Lapsed

In 1905 Dillard took a $10,000 insurance policy on his life with the Security Life Insurance Company of America. He agreed to make payment of premiums quarterly in advance. The premiums up to the time the July 21, 1912, premium fell due were paid up. At that time, however, Dillard was at the advantage of the thirty days of grace allowed and did not mail his check for the premium until August 29, the last day of grace. The check was received by the company on August 22, one day after the time of grace. The company required Dillard to make formal application for reinstatement.

The next premium fell due on October 21, and again Dillard took advantage of the thirty days of grace. Unless he paid the premium on November 21 his policy lapsed. He took his own life on the night of November 20 in the Greensboro Hotel.

The life insurance company, in refusing payment of the policy, takes the position that the issue involved is not solely whether or not death occurred before midnight of November 20, in its petition for appeal, the company asserts that the policy lapsed by default of the premium on November 20 because Dillard had made false oath of his health in his request for reinstatement in August, 1912.

SOUTHERN IS STEADILY
IMPROVING ROADBED

Judge William F. Rhea Gives Results of Recent Official Inspections.

WEST POINT LINE IN GOOD ORDER

New Ties and Ballast Being Placed on Main Line Between Richmond and Danville.

"By next fall the Southern Railway line between Richmond and Danville will be one of the best pieces of track in Virginia," said Judge William F. Rhea, of the State Corporation Commission, in speaking yesterday of the inspection made by him of this railway on Thursday. "At the present time the line is being put in first-class condition. Thousands of new ties have been laid, and ballast is being steadily placed on the track."

A little more than six months ago Judge Rhea made an inspection of the Richmond-Danville road, which caused him to make peremptory demands upon the Southern Railway for improvements. Without exception, said he yesterday, the railway has done everything ordered by the commission.

The line between Richmond and West Point has been practically rebuilt in the last six months," said Judge Rhea. "The improvement made in the last six months is a very unsatisfactory condition. I received my report the Southern immediately began the rebuilding of the line. I found yesterday that the old fifty-six pound rail had been replaced by eighty-pound rails, while new ties have been substituted for the old ties in nearly every instance."

Although we traveled at the rate of forty-five miles an hour over it, the riding was comfortably steady."

TRAINS ARE NOW OPERATED

Judge Rhea also announced yesterday the result of the count kept recently on the train schedule on the Richmond-Danville division of the Southern Railway. He announced that by actual "spotting" the train schedule, he had been arriving in Richmond almost uniformly on time, and that the service had been greatly improved.

The new officials of the northern district who were recently moved to Richmond from Greensboro, N. C., made a good impression upon Judge Rhea by their willingness to fulfill any reasonable regulation imposed by the State Corporation Commission.

General Superintendent R. E. Shannon, accompanied Judge Rhea on the inspection, told him that his office is prepared to make any improvements the commission may require in the Southern's lines about Richmond.

For the last thirty days the commission has required the railway to keep a report of the arrivals and departures of passenger trains from Main Street Station. The report, which is made daily, shows a great improvement in the service, and one which the officials promise will be bettered in the future.

The Richmond-Danville division, like the West Point road, is being practically rebuilt, says Judge Rhea. "I am going to-day, one carload of stone ballast will be placed on this line every day until the entire line has been rebuilt."

The State Corporation Commission is well pleased by the response made by the Southern to its demands, while the commuters who live on the Danville division express pleasure over the new schedule, which adds one train daily into and out of Richmond.
